

JIM SHORE

2018 Appearances

Jim Shore is taking a well-deserved break from his hectic signing schedule in 2018. Don't take that wrong! Jim still loves to get out and meet the people who share an enthusiasm for his art and who have supported him over the years. But the requirements of his studio work and other commitments, including time spent with his growing family, are taking priority this year. You'll still be able to see Jim introduce new designs on QVC, and of course he'll still make his annual trips to Disney. And there will be several other opportunities to see and hear Jim talk about his inspiration and thoughts behind his art. Check the listing below, we will add to it as we finalize details. But after 20 plus years on the road it's time for Jim to slow down!
